SILVER CITY HAS BIG POSTAL GAINS

The Summer Normal School Closes—New Airdome Theater Building.

Silver City, N. M., July 20.—A report of postoffice receipts given out by postmaster John M. Wiley, of this city, show that this office for the fiscal year closing June 30 had receipts over $1000 in excess of the previous year. The receipts aggregated $12,013.15 for the past year.

Schutz Bros. have contracted with Mrs. G. S. Warren for the erection of a large Airdome theater on Bullard street, the present theater building proving too small. The new building will have a depth of 65 feet and a width of 40 feet and will be equipped for moving pictures.

The summer normal school will close its eight weeks' session Thursday evening with public exercises and the presentation of diplomas to a number of graduates. Ralph C. Ely, of Deming, will deliver the commencement address on "What Constitutes a State," and the diplomas will be presented by Thomas L. Lowe, secretary of the board of regents. The total enrollment of the school reached 195, the largest in its five years' history, and the school has been in all respects a successful one. The grant county teachers' institute, which has been in session for the past two weeks, under the supervision of Colin Neblett, county school superintendent, closes Friday evening. It has also been well attended.

The old public school buildings are being razed this week and as soon as the work is completed the grounds will be graded and all preparations completed for the occupancy of the handsome new buildings for the coming year.

BRAGANZA FAMILY FAMOUS IN PORTUGAL

pendent, choosing John's son, Dom Pedro, as emperor. The loss of Brazil, but feebly opposed, left Portugal small as it was when its intrepid navigators first began to explore the African coast in search of adventure and conquest.

At this juncture a swart, grizzled, bearded man, dressed in a simple, but elegant, suit, stepped forward. He was King John, a believer in constitutions, abrogated the instrument of 1822 to proclaim a constitution based upon the English model, but Dom Miguel, his son, headed a revolution against his father as the representative of the absolutist clergy and nobles. England had to interfere to restore King John's authority and insure the banishment of Miguel.

King John soon afterward appointed a regent and returned to Brazil where he died, leaving the regency of Portugal to his daughter. His son, Pedro IV, was so unpopular with Brazilians as king and emperor combined, that he abdicated in favor of his 7-year-old daughter Maria Gloria. After a struggle with her uncle Dom Miguel, in 1833 queen Maria Gloria was seated on the throne at the age of 15. The clashes between constitutionalists and absolutists made the reign of Maria da Gloria a troubled one. Her son, Pedro V, fell victim to cholera in 1861. His younger brother, Luis, succeeded to the throne and married Maria Pia, daughter of Victor Emmanuel of Italy. She died in Italy only the other day. Dom Carlos, who with one of his sons was killed by assassins when Manuel was wounded, was a son of this union.

The last Braganza king, who ended with the expulsion of Manuel last year. His rulership extended through the period of Portugal's existence as a decaying monarchy.

In the Augustine monastery of Sao Vincente, the Braganza family is buried to the late King Carlos III. In their glass lidded coffins in the "Pantheon Real." The bodies are upon exhibition for the satisfaction of the morbidly curious. They are in various stages of decay. In one coffin lies a skeleton half covered with the rags that once constituted the robes of royalty. In another is a festering body, the military uniform still intact across a sunken chest half covered with decorations, green mold growing like moss upon the face. An attendant holds a candle to the glass and lights the coffin. The visitor who can endure the sight sees in a dozen forms Juan Valdes Leal's famous painting "Pinta Gloria Mundi" which is said to have made Murillo hold his nose. Here, with the exception of Manuel, lie the Braganza kings who held the Portuguese scepter from the middle of the seventeenth century until the revolution. Tomorrow—The City of Lisbon, Portugal.

PECOS PLANS FOR NOVEL IRRIGATION

To Make Lakes by Pumping Wells—Conservation Is the Plan.

Pecos, Texas, July 20.—At a meeting of the Commercial club of this city the plan of Col. Exall, of Dallas, president of the Texas Industrial congress, for impounding water for lakes, to be used for irrigating, stock and utility purposes, was unanimously endorsed. Supt. Stewart, director of the Pecos Irrigation experiment station, stated that he considered it of vast importance to conservation through Texas, and especially in west Texas and New Mexico. Here in the flowing well district, wells could be put down which, after being turned into an artificial lake, would make for great progress and beautification. It is estimated that three wells, flowing 1500 gallons of water per minute, would fill a reservoir large enough to make a lake 450 yards wide by 1000 yards long, eight feet deep, in six months, figuring evaporation at 25 percent. It is very possible that such a lake will be put down near the city for the beginning of a city park.

The idea advanced by Col. Exall that lakes of this kind will increase the rainfall and otherwise assist in agricultural development, is not a new one, but he is the first man in Texas to advocate it for general use throughout the state.

LIGHTNING DAMAGES AT PLAINVIEW

Plainview, Texas, July 20.—The sky has been mirrored with rainbows every day for the past two weeks during which time the Plainview country has received five inches of precipitation according to government gauge. Many chimneys and several windmill towers were blown down and several cattle were killed in this section, by lightning. S. R. Doan, a drummer with the American Grocery company out of Kansas City, while driving near town, had the horse he was driving stunned by a stroke of lightning for several hours. Doan himself was dazed for several minutes. The horse is probably paralyzed permanently.

According to the report of J. F. Sander, who keeps the government gauge, Plainview has received 18.91 inches of rainfall the past six months. It looks very much as if the Plainview country will run up its average this year. The country is in the best possible condition just now but if the rainy weather continues crop prospects will be damaged—a hitherto unknown condition. Wheat threshing is being delayed and many crops are becoming weedy from the fact that the farmers have not been able to get into the fields. Cotton is blooming and many farmers are predicting a bale to the acre. One or two farmers claim 45 bushels of corn to the acre with another opportunity rain, but the rains are a rule come too late for the corn. The forage crops are in perfect condition and the plains country expects to furnish roughness for the state this year. The range is in excellent condition and cattle are fat. However, much grass is going to waste on account of the scarcity of cattle.

NEW TEACHER FOR SAFFORD SCHOOLS

Gila Valley Fair Association Elects Officers for the Year.

Safford, Ariz., July 20.—Miss Anna Akesson, of Winona, Wis., has been elected third grade teacher for Safford in place of Miss Brownlee, who has resigned.

Dr. J. C. Belt sold his stallion, Arizona McKinney, to J. H. Coe, of Sedgwick, Kas. The price paid was $2000. W. A. Woodward has returned to his home in Silver City. He has spent several weeks in Safford visiting his daughter, Mrs. Geo. Oliver.

The Consolidated Telephone company has leased the south part of the post-office building for four years and will have it fitted for occupancy by Aug. 1. General manager Hinchcliffe, of Tucson, was here and arranged for a number of improvements, among them being a new telephone line along the railroad right of way, instead of along the public driveway, and also a new improved switchboard. D. F. Papot is the local manager.

Central has a band of over 30 pieces now, the largest in the valley. Wm. Moore Clayton is the leader.

The Mt. Graham Lumber company has over 40 men on the pay roll. It is extending the flume to the Cliff ranch. Dory Morris is erecting a blacksmith shop on the corner of Eleventh and L streets.

At a meeting of the Gila Valley Fair association, John J. Birdno was elected president and Luther Green secretary. They, with Eric Reed, W. D. Robertson, Z. C. Prina, Chas. Krueger and Tom Wanslee, were elected directors.

The Rapier boys, of Bryce, have been very sick with typhoid fever.

Mutt and Jeff are with us. Another appearance today on Classified page. Every day in The Herald hereafter.

New Bill at Airdome

Commencing tonight and continuing for the remainder of the week the Jas. P. Lee Company will present a new bill. The show tonight will be entirely new. It has never been produced in El Paso before and you can go to the Airdome tonight with the expectation of seeing a show with plenty of fun and at the same time a high class bill with a score of good musical numbers.

On Saturday night, the management of the Airdome has arranged to give returns of the election as, fast as they are received. He has gone to considerable expense to get these returns and he will no doubt be repaid for the expense, as the Airdome should be taxed to its capacity.
